

Valued member,

Today, we're making a significant change to better serve the community of traders as a whole. We are rebranding from "futures io" to "NexusFi".

Why NexusFi?

Nexus - The Central Link: 'Nexus' represents a central link or connection, a coming together of different elements. In the context our community, 'Nexus' symbolizes the central hub where traders of all levels and from various markets come together, forming a cohesive, interconnected network.

Fi - Financial Intelligence: 'Fi' is an abbreviation for Financial Intelligence. It signifies the collective wisdom within our community. As a member of NexusFi, you are part of a network that enhances your financial intelligence, empowering you to make informed trading decisions.

What's Changing?

A New Look: We're introducing a modern theme, complete with a built-in dark mode option, to enhance your user experience. You can view screenshots of the upcoming themes on our website and share your feedback to help us shape it to meet your needs.

Domain Name Change: Our domain name will change to NexusFi.com, but don't worry about your bookmarks. The old domain, futures.io, will continue to work indefinitely.

Broadening Our Base: We are fully welcoming all types of traders and all types of markets. By broadening our base, we are creating a more diverse and dynamic community, which will benefit all members.

Addressing Your Concerns

We understand that change can be challenging, and we want to address some potential concerns:

Resistance to Change: We understand that some members may not initially be in favor of this change. We value your feedback and encourage you to share your thoughts in the dedicated discussion thread. We're here to listen and respond.

Transition Period Process: We've chosen to gradually introduce changes rather than all at once. This approach may lead to some temporary inconsistencies. We're keeping a list of known items that still need to be rebranded. We appreciate your understanding and invite you to share any discrepancies you notice in the discussion thread. Your input will help ensure nothing is overlooked.

Member Profiles: Your usernames will remain the same, and all of your posts will remain intact. We're working hard to ensure that the transition is as seamless as possible for you.

Any Necessary Actions as a Member?: Rest assured, there's no action required on your part. We're working hard to make this transition as seamless as possible. You won't even need to re-login.

Elite Membership Status: Your Elite Membership is invaluable to us, and it will continue as usual. It's a lifetime membership that never expires, and this rebranding won't change that.

Focus on Futures Trading: We're expanding to all markets, but futures trading remains a core focus. More participation means more opportunities for discovery and engagement.

We're excited about this new chapter as NexusFi and are committed to remaining your go-to resource for trading. Thank you for being part of our community.
