

1Shot2Kill.journal

journal.FEB14th.2017

FIO JOURNAL CHALLENGE.JULY 2017

February 14, 2017
Authored by: iTradeSmarter!

1Shot2Kill.journal

journal.FEB14th.2017

TUE

Happy Valentine's Day!

What is so special about today beside Mr. Jim Dalton is coming out of retirement and will host two Incentive Programs this summer? No surprise, right?

I have a second thought about the FIO February Journal Challenge due to the following reasons:

1. As a double major in Accounting and Business Information System, analyzing data is my specialty; but too bad... I have too much "stuff" on my charts!
2. I attended "The Harmonic Trading Platform for NT8 software" with Scott Carney who is the creator of the Harmonic Trading Methodology and realized that I am very good at Identification, but not good at Execution or Risk Management for intraday trades yet.
3. I do not think I am ready for transition from Swing to Intraday trader in order to be in the challenge.
4. I need additional forward-test with Chart-journal that showing "less is more" -- giving not too much or too little.
5. Dad's health is declining... he needed another 20-30 days in rehab or renew Home Health Aid as soon as possible.

Chat member posted this image in the room on Valentine's Day... it's so cute that I "LMAO"!