Check back frequently, I will be adding to and improving this page.

Suggestions for inclusion may be submitted to the above e-mail address. One high priority document has not been located. Between the end of WW II and 1950 Naval Intelligence created a classified archaeology report about prior civilizations on the North American Continent. Talk to your family members who served during WW II and Korea to determine the title and author of the document. I suspect it contains maps that we need.

Introduction

Activating this Post Apocalypse Recovery Project begins an effort which there is no documented evidence has ever been done before in all of human history. The purpose is to manage information, knowledge and resources to minimize the intentional disruption of social stability caused by the engineered collapse of civilization and minimize the recovery time to develop new stable social processes among the survivors. There will be survivors.

One natural question is why do this now. The reasons are complex, but include factors such as the amount of time required to comprehensively change the reality model shared by the general population. One key component of engineering the destruction of civilization is creating reality models in the general population which manipulate them to act contrary to their own individual and collective interests. Creating these self-destructive social processes world-wide takes a specific number of years. There is not enough time left before the collapse for the black souls to plan, organize and implement creation of new self-destructive reality models to counteract the intended consequences of the Post Apocalypse Recovery Project. The main goal is to rebuild in a manner that will destroy their plans to still be in power after their engineered collapse. The future release timing of additional critical information, some of which has also never existed before in human history, will be determined by the amount of time required for the black souls to mount effective countermeasures. Some steps will take place after the black souls enter their survival bunkers.

The destruction of our current civilization is being social engineered by seriously evil people. If you want some comprehension of their delusions and rationalizations, read the Georgia Guidestones content. Alexander Solzhenitsyn nailed what the Georgia Guidestones are about, "In order for men to do great evil, they must first believe they are doing good." The real reason is that they enjoy feeding off the misery, pain, suffering and enslavement of other human beings. Most of their "benevolent" goals could be implemented now, but the changes to accomplish them are blocked as part of the destruction process. These are the people Christian mystic author C. S. Lewis referred to as "bent." Debate and discussions of who, what, where, when and why are for other venues. This web page has one purpose and that is to organize and disseminate information so ordinary people who survive outside the bunkers can reestablish the foundations of civilization with out dependence on the black souls who will be attempting to regain control when they emerge from their bunkers.

There is one commonly held distorted belief that will play an important role in the aftermath of collapse. The logical proposition that "Power corrupts and absolute power corrupts absolutely" is inaccurate. The error is that dependency corrupts. In the aftermath of collapse, the people managing the social destruction plan on emerging from their bunkers with the only resources every one will need to survive and recover. That is only potential power. It will only become actual power if the survivors develop dependency on their resources. If the black souls emerge and discover that no one needs to depend on their buried resources, they will have no actual power. For future reference, never forget that it is dependency that corrupts both parties of the power/dependency social contract!

The black souls obviously may try armed force to impose their will, but they will be small in numbers and starting from small geographical strongholds. Gunpowder has long been the propellant for weapons, but has the disadvantage of requiring resources obtained from a shrinking number of natural sites. For survivors who understand the importance of the decentralization strategy, building electric, steam powered and other widely distributed energy source weapons is the only effective strategy for preparing defenses against weapons stored in the underground bunkers. A mixed alternate weapons technology strategy, including seizing their weapons, has an advantage. An additional tactic will be disseminated later. Start designing and testing alternate weapon propellant technology now.

In case anyone is curious about how I came to be in charge of this, I was independently requested to undertake different aspects of the Post Apocolypse Recovery Project by two of the genuinely honest people in the intelligence services who actually tried to protect the interests of the United States and its citizens. The first was Rev. James Hatley who became a minister after serving in a key intelligence position during WW II. He became a minister because he wanted to be remembered for something other than death and destruction. The second was William Pawelec. Both men are now deceased. Both were men of integrity and great foresight, who independently ascertained what was being done to the United States and the World. Both their names should be recorded for posterity for their respective roles in beginning the Post Apocolypse Recovery Project. For the future historical record, should there be one, I began preparing for this in 1978. This project is not being funded by any government, corporate or private group. That would be too many people who knew. I have never been compensated by anyone for working on this. Other than one confidentiality agreement which I continue to will honor, I am under no restrictions on the development and use of information determined to be relevant for the Post Apocolypse Recovery Project.

For those who are curious about why now, my original plan was to begin this the middle of 2012, but it is necessary to start now because the black souls only control about 60% of their planetary destruction engine now. They are in the process of loosing control. As a result, events I was preparing for are happening sooner that expected. It is necessary to begin now to ensure some chance of success for this effort.

This just the beginning. Essential information that has never existed before will be released later. Some will be in the form of a book, sales of which will finance some additional steps. Many of the optimum rebuilding options were selected as most efficient without regard to currently being contrary to special interest groups. There are many documented instances of special interests supressing innovations contrary to their economic or power interests. A prime example is the resonance frequecy technology for killing cancer and disease organizims developed by Royal Rife in the 1920's. It was perceived as contrary to the medical establishment by the California branch of the AMA. Rife lost a power struggle with the California AMA and his work was distroyed and suppressed. There are numerous examples of inventors selling their major innovations to corporations which placed everything in a vault never to be seen again.

Another important insight overlooked in the wars and shouting matches of the previous two centuries is that the philosophy of Capitalism is also an essential destruction tool introduced to humanity by the same black souls who produced communism, socialism, and all the other isms used to create human conflict. The philosophy of Capitalis was one of their most successful enterprises. It was so successful that in the minds of many, the principles of Capitalism are the default rules of commerce or that Capitalism and commerce are interchangeable. They are not. It is not the purpose here to advance any economic philosphy. The goal is to provide basic knowledge and the most accurate reality simulations that currently exist that will be useful in jumpstarting the next civilization and keep the survivors from falling under the control of the next wave of black souls.

WARNING

You have been set up to become dependent in the Post Apocalypse World.

You have been programmed to live as savages in the post apocalypse world. Through the propaganda functions of the movie and the television industry, the post apocalypse world reality model you have been given to expect and work with is the Mel Gibson Road Warrior model. This has been amplified in zombie apocalypse movies and "reality" television shows like Survivor. This is probably not the result of a conspiracy among the producers of such shows, it is a conspiracy among the top money people who select movies and television shows from among the many idea proposals they are presented which advance their blackhearted agenda.

There is critical information about violence that those who want you to kill for them will not tell you. First and foremost, there are permanent spiritual consequences for killing. If you kill another human being, you had better make certain that it is consistent with the will of God. Since you are probably not an Angel of Death, it may be hard to tell. Second, no one has probably explained to you the importance of disciplined violence to civilization. It is important for you to understand the distinctions between savages who kill for emotional gratification, soldiers who follow some military code of discipline, and warriors who follow a spiritual code of conduct. I have addressed the historical roots and role of disciplined violence in this article which you may download, print or forward to others : Differentiating Savages, Soldiers and Warriors: The importance of Disciplined Violence to Civilization (and Why Nearly All Feminists Are Savages)". March 31, 2002 REVISED May 19, 2006
<http://thesociologycenter.com/EighthCity/DifferentiatingSavages06.pdf>

The historical truth is that human beings have survived past natural and man-made catastrophic events by cooperation. If you are wise, you will find people you can trust now and work together on cooperative survival plans. If you survive the engineered collapse living alone on the side of a mountain in a concrete house disguised as a rock, the nefarious black souls will have you. If you want any alternative existence for the rest of your life after the collapse, you will have to depend upon the resources they took underground with them. You will have to take prudent steps to survive, but if you prepare only for the Road Warrior post apocalypse reality model they have provided for you, you might be better off having died. You have no idea what kind of existence they have planned for you, your children, and your wife. These are people who knowingly and with malice aforethought destroyed a civilization. They are not going to be exactly filled with the milk of human kindness.

The knowledge of how evil enterprises work used in providing specific warning and advice in this material does not come from being a participant in black operations. I chose at the beginning of acquiring the skills I now possess to only work on white projects. My knowledge was acquired analyzing and identifying the methods and procedures used to accomplish organized crime, organized science fraud, and the dark applications of intelligence resources. I have a comprehensive inventory of the specific methods and procedures used to commit black deeds. To my personal knowledge the last time they were used by good honest men to further the genuine interests of the citizens of the United States was World War II. The key to not developing dependency upon the "services" of the black souls is decentralization! If I copied all the information at the following links it would be plagiarish and you would be totally reliant on one source, which would be contrary to decentralization. You must develop your own "how to" long lasting instructions from the following essential basic knowledge. Carve it in a cave wall if you own one. One of the things I want to accomplish with this website phase is communicate the need for everyone intent upon surviving and recovering some level of civilization to memorize and store printed critical information and obtain critical tools with the knowledge of how to build and utilize them.

First and foremost among the intellectual tools are manual mathematics calculators. This will get you off dependency on batteries and electricity for electronic calculators and computers. In planning, constructing and storing the devices and related printed information it is important to think in terms of a 100 year use or printed information survivability life. The supporting printed material should be on acid free paper printed with light fast ink.

PUBLIC HEALTH

It will be vital to reestablish defensible communities as quickly as possible. Within the United States, the collapse may be followed by or include invading combined Mexican-Chinese armies and possibly Russian Military invading Alaska, if they have remaining viable military capacity. During World War I the intercepted German Foreign Minister Arthur Zimmerman telegram documented an offer bargain with Mexico to return the Western States they want if Mexico would help invade the United States (<http://library.thinkquest.org/28005/flashed/timemachine/courseofhistory/zimmerman.shtml>). The Chinese made the same offer to Mexico and it was accepted. There is a treaty between China and Mexico to that effect. Chinese arms have been prepositioned inside the United States with armour, artillery, and munitions stored in caves in the Mexican mountains. Even if they are not used by surviving Chinese military forces, they will fall into the hands of the current drug cartels which helped smuggle the arms into Mexico.

3. Four priority public health methods instructions should be the design and construction of pit privys, the design and construction of sewage septic tanks and disposal fields, the design and construction of sewage processing facilities for larger population concentrations, the design and construction of large scale drinking water filtration and treatment facilities.

These will be essential elements in the recovery process because survivors using them all will be less susceptible to the intentional release of new diseases that nefarious individuals might have stored in the freezer in their underground bunkers. The intentional destruction of civilization might not kill enough people to meet the goals stated on the Georgia Guidestones.

One important step in the construction of a septic tank disposal field will determine the water absorption rate of the soil you are considering building the disposal field in. Test the absorption rate by digging a five foot hole and filling the hole with water. Measure the volume of water as you pour it in. Time the rate at which the water drains from the hole. The slower the soil water absorption rate, the larger the disposal field must be. High clay content soil should be avoided. Once you know the amount of time it took to absorb your measured amount of water, you calculate the square feet of disposal lines you need to construct for the amount of sewage liquid you will be producing. Allow more space for soil saturation to slow down the absorption rate for high volumes.

You do not want to become sick when the only source of industrially produced drugs and antibiotics are slots in the doors of underground bunkers.

4. Check the available publications from your State Health Departments and State Cooperative Extension Services for how-to-manuals on essential skills, formulas, and other information that might foreseeably be of use in rebuilding a safe existence after the collapse. Your State Geologists may have available State or County maps of soils types, known mineral deposits (critical information for steel, bronze, pottery, and cement production), watershed systems (valuable for knowing where to rebuild and where to construct water powered devices).

Power and Fuel Production

Hydrogen production from inexhaustible supplies of fresh and salt water using microbial reverse-electrodialysis electrolysis cells

Abstract

There is a tremendous source of entropic energy available from the salinity difference between river water and seawater, but this energy has yet to be efficiently captured and stored. Here we demonstrate that H<sub>2</sub> can be produced in a single process by capturing the salinity driven energy along with organic matter degradation using exoelectrogenic bacteria. Only five pairs of seawater and river water cells were sandwiched between an anode, containing exoelectrogenic bacteria, and a cathode, forming a microbial reverse-electrodialysis electrolysis cell. Exoelectrogens added an electrical potential from acetate oxidation and reduced the anode overpotential, while the reverse electrodialysis stack contributed 0.5–0.6 V at a salinity ratio (seawater:river water) of 50. The H<sub>2</sub> production rate increased from 0.8 to 1.6 m<sup>3</sup>-H<sub>2</sub>/m<sup>3</sup>-anolyte/day for seawater and river water flow rates ranging from 0.1 to 0.8 mL/ min. H<sub>2</sub> recovery, the ratio of electrons used for H<sub>2</sub> evolution to electrons released by substrate oxidation, ranged from 72% to 86%. Energy efficiencies, calculated from changes in salinities and the loss of organic matter, were 58% to 64%. By using a relatively small reverse electrodialysis stack (11 membranes), only ~1% of the produced energy was needed for pumping water. Although Pt was used on the cathode in these tests, additional tests with a nonprecious metal catalyst (MoS<sub>2</sub>) demonstrated H<sub>2</sub> production at a rate of 0.8 m<sup>3</sup>/m<sup>3</sup>/d and an energy efficiency of 51%. These results show that pure H<sub>2</sub> gas can efficiently be produced from virtually limitless supplies of seawater and river water, and biodegradable organic matter.

SOCIAL PROCESSES AND INSTITUTIONS

Fundamental Reasons Social Institutions Failed

Criminal Justice System

The reason the Criminal Justice System produces a high error rate and high crime rate is simple, but understanding why requires understanding forms of hypotheses. There are three forms of hypotheses testing. Null hypotheses testing has been used as a foundation for the experimental method of scientific research. Contrary hypotheses testing has been the corner stone of police criminal investigation methods. Contradictory hypotheses testing has been used by no one. You will understand why once you understand the power of contradictory hypotheses testing.

Contrary hypotheses have the logical properties that all cannot be true, but all can be false. Contradictory hypotheses have the logical properties that all cannot be true and all cannot be false. Using contradictory hypotheses testing for the basis of a criminal justice system produces close to a zero error rate determining guilt or innocence with the added benefits that fraud, corruption, incompetence, evidence falsification, police and prosecutor misconduct, and deception are rendered transparent. Contradictory hypotheses testing is what a group of nefarious Machiavilians would choose for the basis of a criminal justice system if the goal was to conceal malicious prosecutions, bribery, incompetence, organized crime among the elite and other evil enterprises while appearing to have an objective criminal justice system.

Intelligence Collection and Analysis

In all of human history, intelligence collection and analysis have always been political processes, not science. No objective unit of analysis has ever been used by any intelligence agency to organize the collection and analysis of intelligence information. That can be remedied by using the neural structures which are the basic natural unit of all social processes. Neural structures can be described mathematically and used to simultaneously map the individual and group components of social interactions. By also switching from contrary hypotheses testing to contradictory hypotheses testing a near zero error rate may be achieved, with the additional benefits of rendering deception, evidence falsification, incompetence, and other undesirable factors transparent. More on this later.

Other Teams On The Field

You will need to know that the attention of at least three non-terrestrial forces are focused on Earth due to the resident evil. More may be arriving soon. God, an alliance of extraterrestrials, and an independent extraterrestrial species that may be the oldest existing civilization are all conducting operations here. The ancient force of evil operating on Earth is apparently an inconvenience to every living thing in the universe in one way or another. Everyone with the skills to locate the source of their inconvenience and the technology to build a rowboat to get here have come to put an end to their misery caused by the resident evil.

How Angels of Death Operate

Human beings are allowed to express free will at all times. In circumstances where that results in the deaths of others, Angels of Death focus energy on the event that brings about an outcome consistent with the will of God. Angels of Death have a strong love of truth and are emotionally objective. The criteria used to determine the desired outcome when human free will results in death are known only to God and the Angels of Death.

Determinants of Who Wins

Outcome resolution of conflicts between groups will be determined by how closely their respective reality simulations resemble objective reality. The group with the most accurate reality simulation of objective reality will win, possibly without the use of force. Dogged ideology is not a substitute for an accurate reality simulation. There is no substitute for objective methods and procedures for determining the truth of what is the reality in any situation or crisis.

FIELD MEDICINE

Under field medicine conditions, or other situations where no medical technology is available, a technique from martial arts and Tibetan medicine can be used as an emergency scanner for assessing the severity of trauma. It will require constructing the neural structures that will allow you to process the information.

You will have to learn the following skill from elementary traditional martial arts training.

Place your hands palm to palm about two inches apart. Slowly move your palms toward and away from each other without touching them. It may help to close your eyes. You will feel a tugging sensation as you move your hands back and forth. Once you are well aware of the sensation, use which ever hand you rely on to scan places on your body that have been injured. You should feel a difference from uninjured portions of your body. Recruit a friend to practice scanning on. Do not ask them if they have been injured, scan to see if you can find injury points, then ask to confirm. You might also check pets with known injury points. Point traumas such as blows or broken bones will feel like an energy spike. Bleeding feels like warm air. With practice and experience you can also make more sophisticated assessments. When you detect a problem, you will need to get them to appropriate medical assistance.
